

Landmark Discrimination Case On Behalf Of American Executives And Employees At Marubeni

January 20, 2005 • News & Press

Wigdor LLP represented a group of executives and employees at a New York based Japanese Company, Marubeni, who alleged that they and other non-Asian and non-Japanese employees were subjected to rampant unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, gender, and/or national origin.

The case received worldwide media attention.

January 20, 2005

Read PDF

The Wall Street Journal

January 20, 2005

Read PDF