

Shaila Scott Sues WBLs For Discrimination & Retaliation

 radioinsight.com/headlines/232494/shaila-scott-sues-wbls-for-discrimination-retaliation

Former 107.5 WBLs New York midday host Shaila Scott is suing MediaCo and Emmis Communications for discrimination and retaliation.

Scott, real name Amilee Cattouse, exited WBLs at the end of May after a decade on the station. She worked at WBLs from 1988 to 1994 when she moved to “98.7 Kiss-FM” WRKS. She would return to WBLs following the merger of its and WRKS’ IP in April 2012.

In the lawsuit, Cattouse alleges that she was paid less than her male peers, fired at the age of 59 and replaced by someone approximately 25 years younger, and MediaCo withheld her severance unless she promised not to sue the company for discrimination, including violations of the equal pay laws.

Scott was replaced on the WBLs lineup earlier this month by the addition of new afternoon host Nicole ‘JusNik’ Prempeh, while Deja Vu moved from afternoons to middays.